

Building Wholesale Capacity & Food Safety for Produce Farms

Thursday, 12.5.19 | Wadesboro, NC
Anson County NC Cooperative Extension Center

Chloe Johnson and Krista Morgan of the Carolina Farm Stewardship Association will be teaching a low-cost workshop on wholesale production and GAP certification.

Almost all wholesale buyers require a food safety certification. A class like this one is required for GAP certification. Register today to get a head start on increased sales in 2020. You'll leave this workshop knowing:

- What is important to consider before scaling up business,
- How to find wholesale buyers,
- What it means to be "GAP Certified,"
- What to expect on audit day,
- The latest changes in food safety and FSMA, and
- Examples of practices to implement on your farm for wholesale success!

DATE: December 5, 2019

TIME: 9 a.m. – 4 p.m.

LOCATION: Anson County N.C. Cooperative Extension Center: 501 McLaurin St, Wadesboro, NC 28170

REGISTRATION: $20 CFSA Member / $25 Non-member. Lunch included. Register by phone: (919) 542-2402; or online at: <https://www.carolinafarmstewards.org/events/>
